

See this critically acclaimed one woman show

"Unveiled"

at Congregation Or Atid

Tuesday, May 21, 7pm

Featuring playwright and performer, Rohina Malik

Created in response to the rise in hate crimes, Unveiled, is a powerful work about five women from different ethnic backgrounds whose stories are bound by the hijab, the traditional headscarf worn by Muslim woman as a symbol of modesty, deep devotion and sincere piety. It also provokes hostility and abuse from those blinded by Islamophobia. Rohina Malik tells each story, accompanied by a musician playing the oud, which subtly underscores and enhances Malik's monologues. Light snacks will be served after the performance.

Tickets are $18 per person

Pay by check to Congregation Or Atid, or by credit card here.

This event is made possible through a grant from the Wayland Cultural Council and is supported by Congregation Or Atid , the Islamic Center of Boston and Temple Israel of Natick.

Congregation Or Atid, 97 Concord Road, Wayland, 508-358-9623